

REMEMBER - All babies are different and it takes time to develop routine activities. It is always OK to make changes to feeding times, play and sleep to fit in with your baby's cues. If your baby is happy and interactive during wake times, your baby has probably had enough sleep. This can be a fun time, as your child develops new skills such as crawling and exploring their world. As your baby becomes more mobile make sure that your home and play areas are safe.

Daily Activities

Your baby's clock is set by the environment and regular daily activities and their interactions with you.

6-8 Months

TO BE USED AS A GUIDE ONLY

What to expect from your baby at 6-8 months

Your baby's feed, play, sleep cycle is the basic structure of a their day. Routine activities, including a wind down period before sleep time helps them establish good sleep patterns. All babies have varied sleep needs and therefore the following is a guide only that you can use and adapt to your own baby's individual needs.

During this 6-8 month transition time your baby is starting to:

- Be more active.
- Stay awake longer.
- Take a greater interest in what is happening around them.
- Move from 3 sleeps to 2 sleeps a day.
- Will progress from milk before solids to milk after solids.
- Show more emotions.
- Take cooled boiled water from a cup.

Some age appropriate activities include:

- Giving lots of cuddles.
- Visiting friends/local park/play groups.
- Music/singing/nursery rhymes/story time.
- Finger/toe games.
- Toys – that move, make sound, are colourful and vary in texture.
- Describing to them what they are doing.
- Reading books, touching and looking at the pictures.
- Pulling toys by a string.
- Squeaking toys.
